Letters and printed matter from the People's Democracies make up the majority of Moscow's international mail.

Today the following persons considerably exceeded their norms: Mozhenkova, Zaytseva, and Gavrilova, letter sorters; and Petina, Bychkova, and Svetova, postal clerks in the package dispatch office, and others.

MOSCOW 200TH BRANCH COMMUNICATIONS OFFICE -- Moscow, Sovetskiy Svyazist, No 2, Feb 53

Not long ago, a 26-story building was put into use on Smolenskaya Ploshchad'. The postal authorities opened the new 200th City Branch Communications Office to serve the organizations which occupy this building. The branch communications office is housed in five rooms of the building with special furniture and fluorescent lights. All mail and telegraph operations take place here. The telegraph equipment is in operation 24 hours a day. To expedite incoming and outgoing mail, automobiles make six trips during every 24-hour period between the 200th Branch Communications Office and the Moscow Main Post Office. The staff of the office is made up of highly qualified communications workers.
